September 16, 1920.

General Obregon, President of Mexico,
Mexico City, Mexico.

Your Excellency:

It gives me great pleasure indeed, as one who has met you and learned to appreciate your fine qualities of character and mind, to congratulate you upon your election to the Presidency of the great nation of Mexico. However, it seems more fitting to congratulate the people of Mexico upon having selected a man of your genius, mental ability and wonderful executive power.

It is the sincere wish of the writer that your administration will be attended with satisfaction, the establishment of peace and thorough success in every way.

Respectfully,

George P. Edwards
