Jean Prof. Villegas:—

I have a reference to a paper you wrote about ten years ago called "Magdalena Bay: An Historical Lesson" which I believe was first available in mimeographed form. Would it ^{be} possible to buy a copy of this or at least to borrow one for a few days? I looked into this incident back in the late thirties when I was studying under Alfred Vagts at Harvard — and because of my grandfather's long association with Lodge am aware of that sort of nonsense that unfortunately continues to inhibit American foreign policy.

With best wishes I am

Sincerely yours,

Robert Lamm
