Mr. Plutarco Calles
Royal Hawaiian Hotel
Honolulu, T.H.

Dear Mr. Calles:

I have noted with unusual interest the fact that you have come to Honolulu for a brief visit. I was born in your country and have a very warm love for it, having spent several years of my life there. My father, dead for many years and buried in Mexico, once conducted a school in Hermosillo and I have been told that you were a pupil under him for a time. Whether or not this be true, I would be pleased to have a visit with you while you are in Honolulu. I would be glad to call at your hotel or would be even more pleased to have you visit this university over which I happen to be presiding. If there is anything which I could do to make your visit more pleasant, I hope that you will let me know.

Yours very truly,

D.L. Crawford, President.
