My dear Sir,

Some months ago, with the approval of a sponsoring committee, the project was started to bring out a volume of the writings of Leo Spitzer, Professor of Romance Philology at the Johns Hopkins University, in honor of his sixtieth birthday (February 7, 1947). The book is to consist of several studies hitherto unpublished, and some of the more significant articles of Professor Spitzer, already in print but now amplified with material gathered in later research; it will contain between 300 and 400 pages and will sell at $5.00.

We are now writing to libraries in this country and abroad and to the friends and colleagues of Professor Spitzer, to announce the project of the Testimonial Volume and to invite those who are interested to subscribe. If you would like your Library to be among the subscribers to this volume, we should be very glad to receive your order.

Sincerely,

Anna Granville Hatcher
