Dear Colleague:

On March the 5th, 1975, I sent you an air mail letter offering you a subsidy to enable you to attend the XIV International Congress of the Historical Sciences. As of now I have had no reply.

I am anxious to know your decision. If you cannot come, I have a list of alternates who will be asked in your place. Unless I hear from you by June the 1st, I will assume that you cannot come and will offer the subsidy to one of the alternates.

Sincerely yours,

Richard Schlatter,
Executive Director

Dear Professor Schlatter:

Your letter of May 19, reached

Yours of March 5th never reached. You may be sure that if I had it I have answered immediately, as I am doing right now.

It is a pity that I am unable to accept your generous offer to subsidy my attendance to the XIV International Congress, since I am working under a very strict schedule.

Wishing you a complete success, I am

Sincerely yours
