Response out of a possible 94

22 years old

I. Crecenciana - not too careful about what she wrote down, rather hasty in her decisions, but recognized her mistakes result: 14 missed

II Monica: 55 years old - immediate recognition of differences but couldn't remember from one page to another whether to write "x" or "o" for equals. result: 8 missed

III Sabine - 30 years old - very clever mechanically but a little hard for him to concentrate on "books"

- about 30

IV Macedonio: Paul worked with him and so helped him with some of the answers. He also skipped one page by mistake. So he missed about 15 out of 88. But I think the possibilities are good. Last year he attended faithfully a class of adults but nothing was accomplished and I think it rather discouraged him.
